1 Why do we need transaction information?
Our goal is to make sure transactions are safe and repeatable. Your transaction information helps us determine an acceptable threshold for account limits.

2 What does "outgoing transactions" mean?
These are estimated dollar amounts you anticipate you will transfer out of your bank account using Buildium. For example, paying vendors or paying out rental owners.

3 Why are there limits?
Simply put, limits are a security precaution to protect everyone involved in the ePay transaction, which includes minimizing the risk that transaction being recalled.

4 Is this all the information I need to provide?
If you need to provide more information to complete the underwriting process our compliance team will reach out for additional documentation, such as:

- Bank documents (signature card, verification letter)
- Tax documents (tax returns, EIN verification letter, etc.)
- Personal identification (driver's license, US passport, SSN card, etc.)
